The Three Hopes

Reflecting from the wa'az mubarak of al-Dai al-Ajal Syedna Aali Qadr Mufaddal Saifuddin (TUS)

The power of positivity

Syedna al-Dai al-Ajal TUS pivoted today's discourse around the fulcrum of hope. An innate human instinct, hope has the potential to provide: (i) strength, (ii) valour, and (iii) happiness.

He then extrapolated the power of hope through a parable of a person from Banu Isra'eel.

The impure intent of a certain daughter-in-law to estrange her mother-in-law lead to a series of events that exemplified the power of hope. When the mother-in-law was left alone in the forest, her positive approach in hoping for the best entailed into her salvation and the present of a cattle of hundred from Allah TA. On the contrary, the own mother of that daughter-in-law brought ill fate upon herself by uttering words of ignorance and scepticism.

The epitome of this recital was realising the power of hopeful words into affecting positive change.

The duas (supplications) that we recite are mere words in a rudimentary sense, but they have a very powerful effect when recited consciously and continuously.
